Dealing with interfaith issues

CONCERNS FACING INTERFAITH COUPLES CAN OCCUR AT ANY TIME. JFCS CAN HELP.

Holidays can be challenging times for interfaith families. At JFCS we understand that concerns faced by interfaith families are not seasonal and can surface at any time.

Many questions arise such as: How should we raise our children? Where should we worship? Can I raise Jewish children when I'm not Jewish myself? How can I support my adult children when I don't agree with their choices? What is my role in helping my grandchildren have a strong religious identity?

Such important decisions require honest and respectful discussions and a willingness to understand each other.

says Barbara Rudnick, Family Life Education Program Manager. "In addition to knowledgeable, skilled and caring therapists in our Counseling Department, we offer a variety of educational programming and formats. We provide information and support to couples, parents, grandparents, adult children raised in interfaith families, persons who have chosen Judaism, and Jewish and non-Jewish extended family members.

"When families turn to us for help, they find JFCS to be a warm and welcoming place,"

"Participants gain tools and understanding that are essential to successfully resolving complicated, emotional and often challenging interfaith issues," she says.

Our staff has expertise in meeting the needs of interfaith families for over 20 years. The annual four-session workshop for interfaith couples, "One Couple/Two Faiths," has been a model used all over the country. The workshop emphasizes how interfaith couples can learn and discuss how two faiths impact a relationship.

JFCS provides speakers, facilitators and consultants to synagogues, agencies, schools and organizations. We customize services to provide guidance and education to address interfaith concerns that are most relevant to each institution.

This year we are collaborating with the St. Paul JCC and the Sabes JCC respectively to offer two exciting programs created by the Jewish Outreach Institute. "The Grandparent's Circle" is a five-session series for Jewish grandparents with interfaith grandchildren. "The Mother's Circle" is a multi-session series for mothers who are not Jewish and are raising Jewish children.

For more information about JFCS's services and programs for interfaith families, contact Rudnick, at 952-542-4825 or brudnick@jfcsmpls.org.

SKIP OWNED HIS OWN HOME AND HIS PARENTS' HOME. HE WORKED IN CONSTRUCTION AND WAS A SUBSTITUTE TEACHER. ONE DAY HE FELL OFF A LADDER AND HIS WORLD FELL APART. JFCS HELPED HIM.

Finding peace of mind

Skip owned both his own home and that of his parents. He worked as a construction worker and a substitute teacher in shop and industrial arts.

He was having trouble making ends meet and felt he needed some help. So last year he came to JFCS for counseling and financial assistance. He met with Neal Gillett, Intake and Information Specialist and Therapist in the Counseling Program. Skip received counseling from Gillett and an emergency assistance grant. It helped him avoid electrical shutoff on his utilities.

It was a valuable experience for him, he says, but after a while he stopped coming to JFCS. It was a difficult time for Skip. "I was overwhelmed by multiple financial and time demands, working a lot to make ends meet," he says.

Several months later, the roof caved in, figuratively speaking. The gentle, easy-going St. Paulite fell off a ladder and hit his head. Skip couldn't return to work until doctors determined if he had a brain injury. "That effectively ended my career in construction," he says.

To make matters worse, he didn't have health insurance. Skip couldn't substitute teach because he had memory problems and dizziness. He was hospitalized.

Skip

In addition, he could not continue doing rehab on his parents' home to sell it, much less pay the utilities on two homes.

These were tough times for Skip. Five months after he stopped coming to JFCS, Skip returned for counseling. "I came back to an environment I knew and felt comfortable with and believed I had a chance to get the help I needed in terms of emotional as well as financial support," he says.

Right away he realized that coming back to JFCS was a very good decision. "I was greeted in a supportive manner that showed concern and wasn't judgmental," he says. "A plan was implemented to help me resolve my issues in a timely manner, showing me different options and helping me be more accountable in maintaining a deadline."

JFCS helped Skip with resources and referrals to other community agencies for assistance. "I am greatly appreciative," he says.

A year after the first grant, he received a loan plus a grant for utilities from the Beverly Foundation for emergency assistance, entitled Elijah's Cup, administered by JFCS. Gillett also helped Skip set up a utilities payment plan with Xcel Energy. "One of JFCS's great strengths is the ability to refer as well as to help negotiate for their clients with outside agencies," Skip says.

Not surprisingly, he is a big believer in JFCS. "Thankfully, due to JFCS, I am not living my life in crisis mode and I am now at the point where with their continued help, I am eagerly working on plans for the future.

"I would not hesitate to recommend JFCS to anyone for counseling, be it personal or career, as well as getting help for family and personal needs. I have found the staff to be not only thoughtful and professional but also caring on a personal level."

Thanks to JFCS, Skip says, "I have a renewed feeling of peace of mind and know that if I need help I have a place to go where I can get it."

He is substitute teaching in the Minneapolis School District, now, too. Things are definitely looking up for Skip.

'A taste of the Jewish year'

Nearly 100 children, parents and grandparents enjoyed "A Taste of the Jewish Year" at Brookview Park, sponsored by the Family and Parenting Center, a program of JFCS. People nibbled their way through the Jewish year, celebrating different holidays. Kids built edible sukkot, snacked on bagels and cream cheese, made art projects, blew toy shofars and celebrated with stuffed Torahs. The program is supported by the Minneapolis Jewish Federation and the Toodie and Frank Trestman Special Needs and Collaborative Education Endowment Fund.

JFCS 20TH ANNUAL
BENEFIT DECEMBER 6

"I'm a big Orny Adams fan."

Jerry Seinfeld

Jane Schwartzman and Julie Burton, members of the JFCS Annual Benefit Steering Committee, were with friends last year at a taping of the "Tonight Show with Jay Leno."

One of the guests was Orny Adams. "We laughed continuously during Orny's comic segment," Schwartzman says. "We all decided that he was such a nice Jewish boy with a nice sense of humor, that we should have him at the JFCS Annual Benefit."

And so we are on Saturday, December 6 at the Minneapolis Convention Center.

The Boston-born comic has made frequent appearances on Leno, Letterman, Late Night and many other top shows to major acclaim. He was personally chosen by Jerry Seinfeld to co-star with him in the acclaimed film 'Comedian.'

Orny Adams

BRILLIANT COMIC STAR TO BE FEATURED
AT JFCS 20TH ANNUAL BENEFIT, SATURDAY, DEC. 6, AT MINNEAPOLIS CONVENTION CENTER.

The Hollywood Reporter has called Adams "a favorite comedian to watch on the New York comedy scene."

After 13 years of standup comedy, he recently released "Path of Most Resistance," his debut double disc CD/DVD.

In 1993 Adams graduated from Emory University in Atlanta, with a degree in philosophy and political science. After college he had trouble finding a job and was forced to "temp to perm."

But the perm never really worked out.

His first time onstage was at the Funny Bone in Atlanta. After temping for a year, Adams started playing comedy clubs in Boston and New York. He quit working days and has never looked back.

In 2000, he made a big impact at the Montreal Comedy Festival, resulting in a development deal with Warner Brothers and his first appearance on Letterman.

His act is full of rapid fire wit and clever ideas. One minute he's goofy, the next minute he's intelligent, and you never know when he's being serious.

Come laugh the night away with comedian Orny Adams at the Jewish Family and Children's Service of Minneapolis 20th Annual Benefit, Saturday, December 6 at the Minneapolis Convention Center. For ticket information contact us at 952-542-4875 or www.jfcsmpls.org.

Live Program Auction to benefit youth

KEEP OUR YOUTH HEALTHY AND THRIVING BY PARTICIPATING IN THE LIVE AUCTION AT THE JFCS ANNUAL BENEFIT, DECEMBER 6.

When Brandon became a Bar Mitzvah, he ascended the bimah (synagogue platform) with a healthy dose of self-esteem and the buoyancy of youth so typical of 13-year-olds.

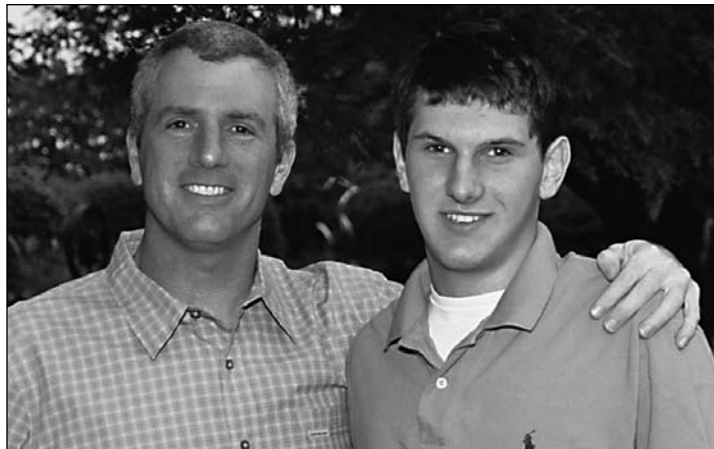

Many did not know about his journey from the lost, confused 6-year-old who lacked a male role model. His mother, Linda, believed a Big Brother could fill some of the void in Brandon's life. JFCS matched Brandon to Joe, and some believe a miracle happened.

Linda calls Joe "my blessing" and credits him with being her son's "center of safety" by giving him unconditional love and acceptance balanced by an uncanny perception of the tools that would provide Brandon the self-esteem and trust he needed.

For his Bar Mitzvah project, Brandon decided he wanted to serve as a mentor to a child in the BB/BS Program. Thus was born the Pal to Pal Program, in which children ages 10-16 serve as a special friend to a younger child. The program is flourishing.

Brandon's story is just one of many young people who have been helped by JFCS. The agency is committed to providing programs and services that keep our youth healthy.

You can help, too, by supporting these programs at the 2008 JFCS Annual Benefit Live

Joe and Brandon are examples of a successful match in the Jewish Big Brother/Big Sister Program. You can help support JFCS programs and services for youth by taking part in the Annual Benefit Live Auction, Saturday, December 6 at the Minneapolis Convention Center.

Program Auction. All auction monies raised will be used for programs that support youth from grade 5 through college.

"What could be more important than giving our young people every possible opportunity to grow and develop in healthy, positive ways?" asks Judy Halper, JFCS Chief Executive Officer. "I am so proud of the breadth of JFCS programming that is devoted to our youth."

Here is a look at JFCS youth programs:

Healthy Youth – Healthy Communities (HY-HC)

HY-HC provides preventative programming to Jewish youth in grades 5 through college. The curriculum educates while challenging youth to map out possible consequences of their actions. Topics covered include eating disorders and healthy body image, healthy and unhealthy relationships, substance abuse and addiction, and mental health. Many challenges face our youth, and recognizing and addressing them is an important part of HY-HC.

Crisis Response Team, Grief Counseling, AskBarbara

Experienced Family Educator Barbara Rudnick provides a free online service through AskBarbara to answer parenting questions and recommend strategies for stressful family situations. She also specializes in Crisis Response and Grief Counseling for troubled youth.

Jewish Big Brother/Big Sister Program

Volunteers in the Jewish Big Brother/Big Sister Program (BB/BS) provide acceptance, friendship, support and caring for children who need nurturing relationships. BB/BS supports Jewish children and their families by offering positive Jewish role models.

Hip-Hop Homework Tutoring

Teens and adults provide mentoring and tutoring for students in grades 4-6 who need homework help after school at Cedar Manor Intermediate Center. Students and tutors both benefit from the caring that often develops.

Intake and Information Services/Counseling

Intake and Information Services (IIS) is quite literally "the first call for help" at JFCS. IIS handles intake for all JFCS services and can assess a caller's needs from a clinical perspective. IIS can then facilitate assistance using the JFCS staff and many community resources. JFCS is the only agency in our community using master's level, clinically trained professionals answering these first calls for assistance.

Several members of the highly trained Counseling staff specialize in working with youth. Many complex issues can be effectively addressed with their expertise.

In addition to the above programs, Volunteer Resources offers many opportunities for youth to give back, including the Hag Sameach (Happy Holidays) Program, Mitzvah 13, Volunteers in Action and special events.

Help support JFCS's programs and services for youth by bidding generously at the Annual Benefit Live Program Auction.

Mother and daughter volunteer with a special older adult

We offer a variety of volunteer opportunities. To enhance the experience, we try to find the best match for your needs and interests.

For more information, contact Debra Savitt, Program Manager of Volunteer Resources, at 952-542-4859 or dsavitt@jfcsmpls.org.

It started as a commitment to JFCS's Mitzvah 13 Program. Molly decided to volunteer to visit an older adult through the program, which matches a youth 11-13 years old and a parent with a senior.

It has turned out to be much more. When Molly becomes Bat Mitzvah in January, she and her mom, Jan, will continue visiting with their new friend, Margot, who is 87.

"Margot is like another grandmother to me," says Molly. "I like volunteering with Margot. She's nice, she's funny and she's fun to talk to. Being with her makes me feel good."

The three get together about once a month, visiting at Margot's house, seeing plays or going out to lunch. "We clicked right away," Margot says. "It's like I have another family. They are lovely people. They radiate so much love for each other. I would have liked to have had a child like Molly," says Margot, who has no children.

Margot, a client in JFCS's L'Chaim Senior Services Program, was raised in Holland and is a Holocaust survivor.

Margot has been active in Hatha yoga, likes to philosophize and is working with an author on a book on herself and the Holocaust. For more than 20 years she has spoken about the Holocaust at synagogues, churches and schools, largely in Minnesota.

"I try to convey that we can endure so much more than we think we can," she says. "My speaking to people not only helps others to understand the Holocaust but helps to keep me alive. Contact with people keeps my morale up. It's wonderful to have some outside connections and friends like Jan and Molly so you don't feel so alone."

Jan and Molly also volunteer for the JFCS Hag Sameach

(Happy Holiday) Program, wrapping and donating gifts.

"This is a wonderful example of family volunteering," says Sheila Cohen, Coordinator of Volunteers. "Margot feels so happy to have the two of them as visitors. They have added much to her life. It's a win-win for everyone."

Lunch Buddies, homework tutors needed

Help 4th-6th grade students at Cedar Manor Intermediate Center in St. Louis Park in the JFCS Hip-Hop Program as a homework tutor in this supervised program, Tuesdays or Thursdays, 3:20-4:20 p.m.

For information contact Sheila Cohen at 952-542-4846 or scohen@jfcsmpls.org.

Youth needed to plan, lead family nights

Youth are needed to be role models for younger children, working together to lead an event for at-risk students in the ACT (Aquila Cedar Manor Together) program. ACT is a partnership between JFCS and St. Louis Park Schools.

For information contact Cheri Brady, ACT Program Manager, at 952-928-6511 or cbrady@jfcsmpls.org, or Elena Cooperman, Coordinator of Outreach Programs at 952-542-4855 or ecooperman@jfcsmpls.org.

Time to Volunteer

Our first 100 years: paving the way for our next 100 years

"In every deliberation, we must consider the impact of our decisions on the next seven generations."

From the Great Law of the Iroquois Confederacy

As we approach the 100th anniversary of Jewish Family and Children's Service of Minneapolis, which we will mark in 2010, we reflect on how this agency has affected the lives of those who came before us, and how it will affect those who will come after us.

Robin Doroshov
Development
Director

JFCS helped to settle our parents, grandparents and great-grandparents when they arrived from Eastern Europe to start a new life in America, the land of boundless opportunities.

We are the beneficiaries of the hopes and dreams of those immigrants, our forebears, yet there are few among us who will never need some sort of support.

Therefore, we in the Development Department at JFCS continue to pursue financial support for the excellent programs and services of the agency, to ensure that help is there when it is needed.

Whether it's providing services to seniors, finding a Jewish Big Brother or Big Sister for a youth in need, offering the Jewish Free Loan Program to tide people over with short-term financial need, or the many other programs we provide, JFCS addresses many of the critical needs in our community.

Several years ago, some of our forward-thinking leaders realized that while it was wonderful that we were raising money for current needs, we also needed to think about the future of the agency.

The JFCS Endowment Program was launched, and now, several years later, we have 221 endowment funds valued at approximately $7 million. Each year we add new funds, and not insignificantly, donors who started funds in past years continue to make regular donations to their endowment funds. In fact, donors gave more than $350,000 to these funds during the last fiscal year.

People often ask me how the 4 percent we allocate from endowment funds to our annual budget makes even a small difference. It is the impact of the whole, rather than its parts, in this instance, that makes the difference. Whereas 4 percent of a $2,500 endowment fund is $100, 4 percent of the entire endowment is approaching $300,000. This is a significant contribution and helps us meet our annual budgetary needs.

Looking to the future, a healthy endowment helps to ensure the agency's future. As we approach our centennial year, you can help us realize our goal of building a $10 million endowment by 2010. Join us in creating something great for the future of the community.

Please consider establishing a permanent endowment fund at JFCS as a way to honor someone special, perhaps one of those immigrants who came here and worked hard so that you and your family could have a better life. You will make a difference in the lives of others now and in the future.

JFCS thanks the community for its support of the programs and services provided to more than 12,000 people annually.

Your contributions provide kosher Meals on Wheels, counseling, case management for older adults and for people with mental health needs, transportation, employment assistance, outreach to those in need of healing, refugee and immigrant services, and so much more!

Your generosity makes it happen! Thank you.

Many people may think that raising awareness of inclusion and the needs of people with disabilities is largely for adults.

But it is for children, too, even as young as age 5. The Minneapolis Jewish Community Inclusion Program for People with Disabilities (housed at JFCS), Temple Israel and Sha'arim (a local educational organization for Jewish children with special needs and different learning styles) are entering their second year designing classroom curriculum for kindergartners and first graders at Temple Israel that focuses on Jewish values.

Students were given a sheet with the Shema in sign language to take home and many expressed sincere appreciation and a curiosity to learn more.”

“The children gained an understanding that people have many ways in which to pray to G-d,” adds Christensen.

This year the program will teach about the different ways that people’s vision is affected, and how people with vision disorders can use different accommodations to help them worship. “Our goal is to provide children with the tools to come away with an appreciation of the uniqueness that each of us possesses,” Christensen says.

There have been some wonderful successes. Last year, Temple Israel kindergarten students taught the Shema prayer, in sign language, to the student body during Religious School services. “I witnessed not only the excite-

Following the death of a loved one each of us moves in our own time and in our own way through the process of grief, mourning and readjustment.

But we do not have to grieve alone...

*Jewish Family & Children's Service of Minneapolis offers personalized grief support, information and resources...
...because every loss is unique.*
