COME TO PAPA

SATURDAY
DECEMBER 3RD

JEWISH FAMILY AND CHILDREN'S SERVICE OF MINNEAPOLIS

23RD ANNUAL BENEFIT

Join us for the clever comedy of Tom Papa and generosity that provides care to thousands Jewish Family and Children's Service of Minneapolis (JFCS) is thrilled to invite you to the 23rd Annual Benefit, to be held Saturday, December 3, at the Hilton Minneapolis (1001 Marquette Ave. S, Minneapolis 55403).

Proceeds from the Benefit go toward critically needed services that assist more than 16,000 people who come to JFCS each year for help.

The event is sure to be a night of good will, socializing and laughter, with opening act Fiveplay vocal group, and entertainment from renowned comedian Tom Papa.

Papa has been the opening act for his long-time friend Jerry Seinfeld for nearly a decade. And Seinfeld personally selected Papa as the host of NBC's "The Marriage Ref," which Seinfeld produces. It's no wonder he's Seinfeld's go-to guy.

Papa's observational comedy brings levity to everyday situations, and he's been described as a cross between Seinfeld and Bill Cosby.

"I have been a comedian my entire life. Some people are born with natural good looks. Some are born with perfect pitch. Comedians are born with crooked brains. It's what makes us fun to be with and difficult to teach," he says. "The only time things didn't seem off was when I moved to New York and found other crooked comics camped out in comedy clubs. Suddenly everything was as straight as an arrow."

He's starred in two stand-up specials on Comedy Central, and his next special, which is due later this year, is directed by Steven Soderbergh ("Ocean's 11," "The Informant").

Papa is a familiar face on late-night TV. He's made more than 100 appearances on "The Tonight Show with Jay Leno" and is a frequent guest on "Conan" and "Late Show with David Letterman."

Papa has had roles on the big screen, starring opposite Matt Damon in "The Informant," and opposite Robert Deniro in "Analyze That." His voice is recognizable as a character in the DreamWorks animated feature "Bee Movie," for which he was also a writer.

And you might have seen him on TV last year in a recurring role opposite Julia Louis-Dreyfus on the hit CBS series "The New Adventures of Old Christine."

His gig as "The Marriage Ref" host is a great fit, he says. "I am caught in the comedy perfect storm. I get to host a show, doing stand-up about marriage and family life, surrounded by other funny people."

Benefit Co-Chairs Marcia Cohodes and Rhonda Stein, along with their Steering Committee, think you'll find him to be a great fit for the JFCS 23rd Annual Benefit. They've been working hard behind the scenes to bring you a fantastic evening.

Fund supports children, mentors

Chuck and Candice Nadler recognize the importance of mentorship in the life of a child. He was a Big in the national Big Brother/Big Sister program for about 10 years; and she, a counselor, has in-depth knowledge of the effects of positive relationships.

This understanding and their connection to JFCS made it an easy decision to start an endowment fund that supports JFCS's Jewish Big Brother/Big Sister Program (BB/BS).

"Our youth are our future, and we need to do everything we can to support positive outcomes for these children who need this mentoring, and that's really why people should start a fund," Chuck says.

With the support of the Charles and Candice Nadler Family Fund, JFCS is able to match Bigs to a growing number of children, as well as support a Chanukah party and Passover Seder each year for participants.

"Chuck and Candice have believed in this program for a long time," says Judy Halper, JFCS CEO. "Their vision and support for children and their families is amazing, and they match it with their generosity."

Candice says JFCS's BB/BS Program, which began in 1975, is unique because of the exposure to Jewish life and its rituals and celebrations. "That's the really interesting thing about the program. All the participants get to spend time with the other kids and get a sense of this being a Jewish community."

"It feels good to keep Big Brother/Big Sister going. It's not an income-producing program; it's supported by the community, so it relies on the generosity of the community," Candice says.

Chuck adds: "There are a lot of reasons to be supportive of the agency, mostly because JFCS is so vital to the community."

If you are interested in starting an endowment fund to support JFCS programs and services, contact a member of the Development staff at 952-546-0616.

“The increase in requests for assistance grows each day. We are challenged in meeting the needs, due to the decreasing resources available from the government and foundations. I anticipate that human services will be largely impacted by how the federal government will address the nation's deficit. That concerns me greatly, as it will continue to effect our ability to serve the number of individuals and families who seek our help.”

Quotables

Littles, Bigs and parents share their bond with the Jewish Big Brother/Big Sister Program

I love spending time with my Big because we have so much in common. We always have a great time no matter what we are doing when we get together. They are people to trust, share anything with, and you can always count on them to give you great advice or make your day.

– Julia, Little, age 11

I think the program is great to help establish role models for our children when parents may not have the resources at hand to do so easily.

– Liz, mom

I enjoy spending time with my Little Brother because it gives me a sense of pride that another parent trusts me with their young kid. Also, it is priceless to see the smile on his face after we do an activity. Along with him always having a smile, I always have a smile because I get so much joy out of doing this program.

– Jeff, Big

My Little's excitement fuels me. Anything we come up with, I think 'Oh, that will be cool,' and then it winds up being 10 times better. You can't capture that.

– Dimitriy, Big

Both of my children are in this fine program. It has done so much for all of us. They have wonderful Big Sisters who do all sorts of projects with them. Their confidence has grown tremendously.

– Richard, dad

Spending time with a Big allows for me to do things I wouldn't otherwise get to do.

– Gabby, Little, age 11

My Big Sisters are the greatest. They are so nice! I always have so much fun playing games or swimming! I look forward to when I see them and we laugh all the time. They are like family to me.

– Sophia, Little, age 6

Perseverance, guidance lead to dream job

Nancy Wynn has always been optimistic, even during difficult times.

While balancing two part-time jobs, she held out hope that she would find a position that fit her skills, interests and desire for more stability and higher pay.

Nancy had worked for casinos before and knew she wanted to be in client services of some kind, but her dream wasn't coming to fruition.

Then Nancy met Brooke Greenwell, an Employment Development Facilitator at JFCS.

"I was so busy trying to just stay afloat," Nancy says, "and when I met (Brooke), my impression of her was 'She has a lot of information!' I was very impressed with her."

Brooke worked with Nancy on interviewing skills and résumé writing as part of JFCS's Employment Readiness Training. "When Nancy came to me, she was struggling to identify her skills, and we were able to talk more about what she could bring to an employer," Brooke says.

And after eight months of collaboration with Brooke, Nancy was offered the position of Guest Services Supervisor at Treasure

"If there are women or men out there who are looking for someone to build up their self-esteem in their [job] search, JFCS is the place to be."

Island Casino. She now supervises a staff and is responsible for nearly every aspect of the Guest Services department. She feels trusted and valued in her position.

"My life is probably a 100% turn-around now. It's like a dream come true for me," she says. "I knew I could do it! I feel relieved. I feel confident. I can be successful in my position, and I look forward to staying here until I retire. That's where I see myself."

Brooke is very proud of how far Nancy has come. "She set out and got one of her dream jobs," she says.

Employment Readiness Training at JFCS helps build the skills individuals need for entering the workforce.

Program Manager Janet

Flam says the classes offered through JFCS—including Social Media/Networking, Organizing Your Job Search, and Customizing Your Cover Letter—help job-seekers like Nancy gain the confidence needed to apply for jobs.

Nancy says Brooke and the help she received from JFCS gave her the extra boost of information, technical skills and self-assuredness she needed for her job search.

"[JFCS is] there for you. It's an exclusive program," Nancy says. "Meetings, your own personal mentor and other programs are available. If there are women or men out there who are looking for someone to build up their self-esteem in their [job] search, JFCS is the place to be."

JFCS offers a full array of career services to help job seekers prepare for success in today's competitive job market.

Professional assistance is available to help you explore career options, assess strengths and interests, and sharpen your job search skills.

If you would like more information about Career Services at JFCS or are an employer who has a job opening, call 952-546-0616 or visit www.jfcsmpls.org. ■

IN MEMORY OF

We note the following four individuals who passed away between April 1, 2011, and July 31, 2011. We thank their families for thoughtfully designating JFCS for their memorials. It is a beautiful tribute to those who passed and a fitting way to ensure their legacy will continue to enhance the lives of many others in the community. May their memories always be a blessing.
